Inventory

Your inventory is located at the bottom left of the Player Screen. You may carry six items at a time. You will notice that there are six squares in which to store your inventory.

GOLD represents how many gold pieces you are carrying.

LOAD represents how much you are weighted down by your inventory.

ARROW represents how many arrows you have left.

Your character's statistics are located in the upper right corner of the Player Screen beneath the character's name.

LEVEL represents what character level you are. With each level increase, a character becomes more powerful and gains twenty-five hit points. Your character will begin at level 1. You gain levels by earning experience.

EXP represents how many experience points you have. The number to the right of the number of experience points you have is the total number needed for a level increase.

HIT POINTS represent your "health". As you are wounded, your hit points will decrease. When your hit points reach zero your character has been defeated.

ATTACK represents what your attack abilities are. The number on the left refers to the object in your left hand. The number on the right refers to the object in your right hand. If there is nothing in your hand the number will be zero. If you have a weapon in your hand the number represents how much damage the item can cause to an opponent.

DEFENSE represents the amount of defensive armor you are wearing. The number refers to the amount of damage the armor can absorb. If you are using a shield, it will absorb a full hit if used quickly enough by your character.

AGILITY represents how quickly and accurately your character can move. The number on the right refers to the maximum amount of agility your character has based on how tired or hungry your character is. The number on the left refers to the actual amount of agility after subtracting the weight of the objects he is carrying.

LOCALE represents where in the story your character is located.

To EXIT the Player Screen, either move the arrow to the word EXIT in the center of the screen and press the A button, or Press the B button at any time while on that screen.

NOTE: You can only Exit the player screen if the arrow icon is empty.

Combat

Main Level Combat

This combat occurs during the majority of the game. When you are at the normal play level you may run into knights or other evil opponents or creatures. Your attack button will depend on which hand you are holding the weapon in. If your weapon is in your right hand the A button will be the attack button. If your weapon in your left hand you will use the B button to attack.

During this time, your hit points will be shown on the lower left corner of the screen. If your hit points start getting close to zero the number shown will begin to flash to warn you. As you are fighting you will see a + with a number next to it. This shows how many experience points you are gaining as you attack your opponents.

Dueling

A second form of combat you will encounter is dueling. This is a one-on-one battle using swords. To strike your opponent, press the B button. To jump, press the A button. Pressing up on the control pad while pressing the A button will cause you to do a flip in the air while jumping.

During the duel you will notice two life meters at the top of the screen. Yours is on the left and your opponent's is on the right. As a person is wounded his life meter decreases. The person whose life meter runs out first is defeated and the duel is over.

Melee

Another type of battle is the melee. This is when all of Robin's men fight against many of the Sheriff's men. The character you are currently commanding is the one shown by the arrow. To change to a different character, press the start button. To attack with your sword, press the A button. To shoot arrows at enemies, face the direction you wish to make the attack and press the B button. Remember Robin has a limited amount of arrows. Arrows can be increased by picking up quivers.

At the bottom of the melee screen there will be a life meter shown for each one of your characters. The life meter shown by the arrow represents the character you are currently controlling. When a character's life meter runs out, that character has been defeated.

Weapons and Protection

The following is a list of weapons and some information about each item:

Shield	Weight in Units
Shield	10
Locksley Shield	4

Helpful Hints

Some things to remember while you are playing the game:

Be sure to talk to everyone. Some people may give you clues as to the whereabouts of hidden items or doors. Some will ask you questions or give you other clues as to what to do next. Be very careful when answering questions. In many cases the correct answer is imperative.

There are several hidden doors and items in the game. Be sure to SEARCH each place where you think there might be something hidden. Check for loose brick, covered holes, or maybe even secret passages.

You will find chests throughout the game. They can be opened in the same manner as a door. Be sure you have a chest key on hand in case you run across one!

Remember Robin can only carry six items, but, so can all the members of his party. It is better to have them carry objects than to weigh down Robin because his agility won't be as good if he is carrying many objects.

Be sure to pick up all quivers you find. You will need plenty of arrows. Also, pick up as many foods, potions, and bandages as you and your party can carry. You will need these to restore your health.

Characters

These are some of the major characters you will run across in your adventures.

MAID MARIAN - Marian Dubois of Dubois Manor. Friend to Robin Hood.

PETER DUBOIS - Maid Marian's brother and Robin's friend. Robin must rescue Peter to help him in his journeys.

AZEEM - A stranger offering help to Robin Hood. Robin must decide whether or not to trust this stranger and the assistance he offers.

THE BARON - This corrupt Baron is conspiring with The Sheriff to take over the land of England.

LITTLE JOHN & WULF - John Little and his son. Part of an army of outlaws in a camp in Sherwood Forest.

WILL SCARLETT - Member of Little John's army. Will does not trust Robin Hood.
